with Tenneson Woolf, Jan Christensen, and Karen Miller*

November 17 – 19, 2013
Galilee Centre, Arnprior, Ontario

What is the Art of Hosting?

Art of Hosting (ww.artofhosting.org) is a collaborative approach to leadership grounded in personal practice, dialogue and facilitation. These practices and principles help us create the conditions for collective learning and inquiry around our most complex challenges and most compelling dreams.

Why this gathering around deepening associations?

In this time of rapid change, increasing complexity and constraints on resources, collaborative leadership is needed more than ever. It is time to practice being together in ways that enhance the resilience and vitality of our communities, organizations and families.

We can all be leaders when we engage with our vision, wisdom and deep commitments.

Deepening Associations is offered for anyone who wishes to transform problems into projects and to unleash the strength and wisdom of their community in new ways.

Join us if you have ever wondered...

- What does it take to have conversations that get to the heart of what matters?
- How can our communities access the strength of our diversity?
- How can we cultivate fearlessness at this time of rapid transition and transformation?

Art of Hosting processes deepen conversations in ways that allow us to be fully present and to make space for collective wisdom and knowledge to emerge.

We invite you to join us for this adventure in learning!

Tenneson Woolf

Tenneson is a facilitator. He designs and leads meetings in participative formats. To help people be smart together. To get people interacting with each other -- learning together, building relationships, and focusing on projects. To get deeper to the heart of what matters. From strategic visioning with boards to large conference design. Living systems, self-organization, and emergence inspire his work. He is honored to continue this work in support of family and community networks.

Jan Christensen

Jan has 30 years experience in community services including work in leadership positions, project management, collaborative initiatives, and organizational development. She is deeply committed to developing effective processes that lead to sustainable solutions. She understands the intrinsic value of diverse perspectives and bringing the whole person into foundations of participatory leadership.

Karen Miller

Karen designs and leads capacity building programs to help communities and organizations understand, embrace and take wise action in response to the sustainability challenges of our time. Her skills and expertise blend the natural sciences with process design, facilitation and the social dynamics of change. She trusts in the power of groups of people engaging authentically with each other, with what they care about, and with what's possible – and that spirit shines through in her work.
