

ART OF PARTICIPATORY LEADERSHIP 23 – 25 May, 2014, Planica/Slovenia

This time of chaos and crisis calls for clarity, courage and collaboration: clarity on how can I contribute to the common good/goal; courage to step into my full power; and collaborative capacity to co-create the future we want, be it as leaders in organisations or community change agents.

Who is this training for?

This training speaks to anyone who seeks to engage themselves, their teams, organisations or communities in participatory manner around issues that really matter: forward-thinking leaders, managers, entrepreneurs & innovators, change agents & social innovators, consultants & coaches, facilitators, trainers, teachers, community and youth workers, public officials and others who want to experience and learn simple yet powerful processes that activate collective intelligence.

Join us for an intense three-day residential training experience designed to learn simple yet powerful processes which ignite leadership from within, which evoke individual and collective potential, restore hope and offer fresh perspectives and innovative solutions to complex issues we face as organisations or communities:

- How can we recognise and develop each other's strengths, gifts and talents to co-create wise solutions?
- How to collectively step into what is possible – rather than lose hope around what's broken?
- What leadership qualities and skills are called for in this time of chaos and crisis?
- How do we build strong coalitions for change?
- How can I lead myself in order to lead others?

What will I get out of this training?

- experience powerful yet simple participatory processes such as Appreciative Inquiry, Pro Action Café, World Café, Open Space, Circle which are directly transferrable to organisational and community settings,
- explore my own issues & upcoming projects/initiatives which call for participatory capacity,
- learn how to engage around powerful questions that evoke both individual and collective intelligence around what really matters,
- meet a community of people who share similar values and passions.

Venue

The training will take place at Planica, Slovenia (Olympic Sports Centre) on the southern side of the Alps, at the entrance to the Triglav National Park, in a corner where Slovenia, Italy and Austria meet.

How much?

With its potential to reclaim the power of individuals, organisations and communities, such a training is needed now more than ever before. At the same time, it happens at a time when the economic conditions are very challenging in this part of Europe.

Therefore, we offer several options that respond to a variety of circumstances. We also invite you to offer more (if you can & want), or talk to us if economy is a major barrier to your participation.

The training is residential; the participation fee thus includes accommodation and full board.

- 450 EUR – corporate fee (for-profit organisations)
- 300 EUR – individuals & not-for-profit organisations (NGOs, public sector)

Hosting and calling team: Mary-Alice Arthur, Marc Levitte, Marijeta Novak, Robert Krzisnik, Dragana Prijanovic, Tadej Pugelj, Natalija Vrhunc, Alenka Oblak, Jaka Kovac, Janja Rebolj, Andreja Cepus, Metka Kuhar, F. Raphaël Duret-Nauche

More info about the training at www.aoplslovenia.com or aoplslovenia@gmail.com.

More info about the Art of Hosting community at www.artofhosting.org