Join us for an Art of Participatory Leadership Intensive

We recognize that leaders are hungry for more effective meetings and practices for working better together amidst times of rapid change and high complexity. Many people are awakening to different ways of being in leadership together, moving beyond the typical traps of adversarial agendas and into processes of co-learning and participatory leadership that lead to wise action and change.

Many practitioners and leaders are seeking processes, tools and engagement strategies that bring out the best in our communities and foster deeper collaboration. That's what the Art of Participatory Leadership is all about.

Why the Art of Hosting?

The Pacific NW is rich with social innovators and pioneers of new ways. The complexity can be overwhelming - halting our learning, making us feel stuck, tense, and even perpetuating fragmentation and conflict - with and among those who are also trying to make a better world a practical reality.

We are inspired to ask new questions about how we act, what our organizations do and how to respond:

What is the leadership needed in this new environment?

How can we socially innovate faced with complexity and shifting systems?

How do we work effectively with relationships and diversity?

How we can use methods and practices of collaborative and participatory leadership to learn from each other and connect efforts?

Why Should You Attend?

Broaden the skill set within your group; work more effectively and enjoyably together; engage teams, organizations and community stakeholders in meaningful conversations that promote resilience, belonging and innovation.

Enhance your skills and abilities to see and address difficult questions; transform conflict into creative cooperation; develop confidence; use wise process planning architectures for small and large scale initiatives; and host strategic conversations.

Connect with other leaders addressing crucially needed changes and explore how you can work more powerfully together.
